MissinCat is a Singer/Songwriter based in Berlin. She played for six years as the bassist of the Italian rock-pop band Vertigini. With Vertigini she has released a record and toured all over Italy. In December 2006, under the Moniker of MissinCat, Caterina Barbieri founds her solo project. From the beginning she imagines her songs to be extremely minimal and intense, accompanied by simple acoustic guitars and little else. In June 2007 MissinCat wins a prize of the biggest Italian summer festival Heineken Jammin Festival: She gets the chance to perform on the stage of the Heineken Jammin Festival with artist like Incubus and Pearl Jam. The Heineken Jammin Festival will also be the sponsor of the recordings of her first album. In summer 2007 MissinCat meets Carlos Fleischmann from the Berlin based booking agency Creative Talent and starts working with him. In October 2007 she performs as the opening act of Amy Winehouse in all the German shows of her European tour. In the meantime she goes to studio to start working on her album where she'll have a great experience in arranging and producing herself her music. In December 2007 she finishes the recordings of her album and she keeps gigging successfully in Berlin. In November 2008 she will support the Swedish band "Hellsongs" and introduce herself to the German audience. Curiously waiting until February 2009, when her Album "Back to my feet" will be released.

(.....)Als Amy Winehouse's Support in Deutschland war MissinCat geladen, die sich allein mit Akustikgitarre auf das schmale Bühnenstück vor dem Vorhang stellen durfte. Mitgebracht hatte sie ruhige balladenhafte Lieder; souverän und wunderschön getragen von ihrer sanften Stimme, die die Weiten der bereits sehr vollen Halle durchaus erobern konnte.(....)
